Loyer Abello
IP Firm

A century-long history in Intellectual Property

Since 1888, the firm has stuck to the historical values of its predecessors: avant-gardism, high technicality and mixed profiles. Indeed, the firm has built its added value on a strong and virtuous internal collaboration between scientists and lawyers.

At abello IP, the ambition is to create true "lawyer-engineers": professionals capable of understanding and grasping both the technical and legal issues at stake, in order to provide the best possible support to our clients.

Today, this ambition is bearing fruit: a value-creating synergy between its 30 legal and scientific talents, a leading position in Intellectual Property and recognition by its peers for its technical precision and the high quality of its services.
